Anglo-American Baronet Owns Big Slice of Scotland.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, twenty-two years | nalism. of age, a lieutenant of the 2d Life Guards, and who is half American, has just succeeded to the title and the immense es- in the business and editorial organization tates of his nonagenarian grandfather, the late Sir John Tollemache Sinclair. The landed property is very great, extending over an area of a hundred square miles in Scotland, comprising some of the finest shooting in the northern kingdom and the wonderfully, picturesque castle of Thurso, which looks over the stormy tides of the Pentland Firth, and is so ose to the sea that one can literally fish from the spray flecked windows. Just Kohlsaat was with "The Record-Herald" east of the castle, which is exceedingly ous, is Harold's Tower, containing the tomb of Earl Harold, who was the possessor at one time of half of Orkney, of Shetland and of Caithness, and who fell in battle against his namesake, Earl Harold the Wicked, in 1190,

Sir Archibald's mother was Mabel, the beautiful daughter of Mahlon Sands, of New York, and through her he is connected by ties of kinmanship with a number of New York families, including the Rutherfurds and the Vanderbilts. Sir-Archibald will be known from henceforth north of the Tweed as the Laird of Ulbster, and has now become chieftain of one of the branches of that great Clan of Sinclair of which the seventeenth Earl of Caithness is the head.

His grandfather, the late Sir John, was a very eccentric character. He rarely if ever dined at a restaurant in vogue, never used to go to a theatre or to the opera, or even to a music hall, rarely dined out, In spite of his great wealth, he had no carriages, horses or automobiles. walked by preference, and when riding was imperative made use of the democratic omnibus. He would live on herrings and hominy, cooked in his lodgings tirely during the last thirty years of his the museum. life in his lodgings off St. James's street, the walls of which were hung with the not particularly attractive Sinclair tartan. Its hues, however, were more or less concealed by the most heterogeneous collection of pictures, some of them priceless gems, others the most worthless daubs. Even the ceilings were covered therewith, so that in order to do justice to them one had to lie on one's back. In one word, his rooms, like his castles and

To record Sir John's eccentricities would fill a volume. Some years ago he endeavored to relieve the monotony of the poorhouses all over England and Scotland presenting them with gramophones, the records consisting, however, not of popular tunes, but of speeches which he ad delivered and of recitations which he had given either of his own works or of his favorite authors.

Among the latter, first and foremost, of an office building occupying the site of the old offices of the London comic "Punch," on the south side of Fleet street, near St. Bride's Church. Every stone of the hall pavement of this great office building (which will bring in a large income to his grandson and heir, the new baronet, young Sir Archibald, in the way of rental) is inscribed "Byron, the Pilgrim of Eternity," and the dates of his birth and death. Each title is adorned with the words "Crede Byron," while on every block of marble lining the walls are verses from his poems, particularly stanzas from "Childe Harold" and

"Don Juan." And as if Byron's verses were not sufficient, other inscriptions on the walls record the opinions expressed concerning him by such men as Schiller, Goethe, Victor Hugo, Lamartine, Tennyson, Chateaubriand. Sir Walter Scott and Matthew Yet another inscription on the wall states that the British Museum library catalogue devotes twenty-eight pages to Byron and only ten to Tennyson On still another Sir John Sinclair recalls the fact that one edition for the blind has been published of Byron's works and none of Tennyson's. Over the entrance is a beautiful medallion portrait of Byron in white marble, with Shelley's splendid epitaph, "The Pilgrim of Eternity," and I need scarcely say that the office building bears the name of Byron House. One would be likely to imagine that the overwhelming quantity of Byronic quotations, adorning as they do every 'vacant place, every stone and tile and all the walls, floors and ceilings, would be likely to get on the nerves of the occupants. But apparently this is not the case. building is full of tenants. Sir John, who was a prolific poet on his own account, was modest enough, however, to put only one single one of his own verses on the walls of Byron House. It is as follows: Par o'er all bards thy fame, dear Byron, ever towers; Thy glory wanted not, though wanting wert to

And beneath there is an intimation that this bit of rhyme, such as it is, is from the pen of "Sir John Tollemache Sinclair, Bart., who has erected the building to the memory and glory of Byron."

I am sorry to say, however, that Sir John's own poetry does not appeal to his employes. One of the elevator men, on being asked about it, remarked of these "It is the only bit of poetry in the whole building, excepting the foreign pleces, that I cannot for the life of me understand."

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

UNCLE SAM'S FREE FARMS.

From The Christian Herald, The new homestend law and the general agihome has greatly quickened popular in-test in the vacant lands of the United States. dany persons will doubtless be surprised to earn that there is to-day in this country more than half a billion acres of public land, un spropriated and unreserved, and much of bunties where public land is reported the vaant areas total only a few acres, but there are not less than twenty-six states that have public lands. Some of the Western states have twenty to thirty million acres such awaiting settlers, and from that the state totals scale downward until at the foot

NEW LAIRD OF ULBSTER KOHLSAAT BUYS PAPER Adds "The Inter Ocean" to His Holdings in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 9.-H. H. Kohlsaat, editor and publisher of "The Chicago Record-Herald," purchased to-day "The Chicago Inter Ocean" from George W. Hin man, who will retire from Chicago jour

Mr. Kohlsaat will take immediate charge of "The Inter Ocean." Important changes of the paper are said to be included in the policy he has planned. The official announcement says the paper will be Republican in politics.

Mr. Kohlsaat was part owner of "The Inter Ocean" from 1891 to 1893. He beand "The Record" were consolidated in 1901 into "The Record-Herald." Mr. until 1902, when he withdrew, only to resume his connection with that paper on January 1, 1910.

of "The Inter Ocean" since 1901. When been a member of the staff of "The New York Sun" for ten years, as editor and SPEAKS FOR STEFANSSON Museum of Natural History Out in a Statement.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, popularly known of late as the "discoverer of the blond Eskimos," issued a statement yesterday in conjunction with and that the papers are distributed by an official circular from the American the postal service, being carried as second and was never seen at a ball or party. Museum of Natural History, denying statements attributed to him, and explaining what he said concerning the strange people he met among the Eskimos of Coronation Gulf and vicinity. It was as follows:

cratic omnibus. He would live on herrings and hominy, cooked in his lodgings just off St. James's street by himself, over a spirit lamp, and then on the following day would fuss over the merits or demerits of the world-famed chef of the Travellers, the most exclusive club in London, of which this wonderful old laird, with his odd-looking wig and his beard, his erect and spare, tall figure and his extraordinary flow of conversation, was one of the oldest members.

In spite of his numerous castles, country seats and houses, in England, Scotland and on the Continent, he lived entirely during the last thirty years of his

It was as follows:

I have never said to any one that I discovered 2,00) pure Scandinavians in Coronation Gulf or anywhere else in the Arctic. I never said that the people in question had "no Mongolian characteristics whatever," I never said they had any connection with Leif the Lucky, nor with a Scandinavian colony in Newfoundland, nor did I ever hear of such a colony before the newspapers quoted me as discussing it. I never said they weapons or implements of the Coronation Gulf Eskimo, or any other American Arctic people known to me, resembled those of the Norse colonists in Greenland. What I did say has been briefly summarized in the statement issued by the museum.

The museum's statement, after referring to the tendency toward blondness of the Eskimos in question, says:

It is too early to settle definitely on any theory explaining the facts. Of the various explanations that have so far been suggested, it seems to Mr. Stefansson that the one open to the fewest serious objections is that of the admixture of a large amount of European blood, at some fairly remote period. In this connection the disappearance in the fifteenth or sixteenth centuries of the Norse colony from Greenland, suggests itself as a country seats, were filled with a mixture from Greenland, suggests itself as a possible source of the European-like character.

BROOKLYN HAILS REDMOND Accademy of Music Assemblage Indorses Home Rule.

William H. K. Redmond, the Irish M. P., told an enthusiastic audience that relation to the regulation of the mails or crowded the Brooklyn Academy of Music last night of the work of himself and his was Byron, and among the most extraor- constituents in behalf of Home Rule for dinary memorials that have ever been Ireland. After saying that the city of duty of Postmaster General Hitchcock devised to perpetuate the name of this Washington represented the liberty of the and the other defendants to commence or of any other bard is that which Bir world, Mr. Redmond severely arraigned criminal prosecution to recover from the John conceived and put into execution. those people in the north of Ireland who complainant fines and penalties in ac-Instead of taking the form of a statue, it were reported as being against Home cordance with the provision of the new assumed the altogether utilitarian shape Rule. Mr. Redmond said he did not credit postal law, therefore the Journal of Comthe cable reports of his countrymen's antagonism to the measure, since he had represented them in Parliament for seven

The advocate of Home Rule made an earnest plea for the support of all Irish-Americans in the fight for an Irish Parliathe Irish race who had labored in behalf of the movement in the last thirty years the use of the malls and that as there is He said that during that time the Irish had grown poorer in their own country and the birth rate had fallen steadily.

"The eyes of the world are centred on the House of Parliament in London at present," said Mr. Redmond, and added that the whole civilized world was anxionsly awaiting the decision.

After the Irish leader had finished his Irish League of Brooklyn, offered a resolution indorsing the work of John Redmond, M. P., Mr. Redmond's brother, and his colleagues, for their unremitting work in behalf of Home Rule. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Some of those who sat on the speaker's platform were Justice Luke D. Stapleton, of the Brooklyn Supreme Court; John O'Callaghan, the Rev. William Belford, the Rev. M. J. Tierney, Congressman Ftzgerald and Monsignor Taafe. Miss Marie Narelle sang several solos.

SHOWS STATE HAD SURPLUS Controller Sohmer Reports on 1911-'12 Finances.

Albany, Oct. 9.-State Controller Soh mer issued a statement to-day showing the condition of the state's finances. Exclusive of receipts from direct taxes and expenditures for the sinking funds, the revenues for the fiscal year 1911-'12 were $80,263,268 and the disbursements $75,-881,296, leaving a surplus of $4,381,972. During the previous fiscal year, 1909-'10, the revenues were $68,813,575 and the dis-bursements $69,000,751, leaving a deficit of $187,176.

Sohmer's statement says he has collected, "under laws existing at the beginning of his term," $4,262,000 more revenue than was ever obtained before in the history of the state. This increase does not include any of the moneys obtained by the enactment of the new legislation during his term of office, such as the secured debt tax law and the boxing law, direct taxes, excise tax, mortgage tax or taxes on automobiles. Neither does it include any of the large inheritance taxes accruing to the state because of the Titanic disaster.

CIGAR SMOKE AIDS INVENTOR. From The Loudon Chronicle.

How an aeroplane was designed by an inventor while watching cigar smoke was told in an interview by W. Rowland King, designer to the Grahame-White Aviation Company.
"For years past," he said, "I have been perimenting with smoke, with the object of learning how air currents behave, so as to gain data for the betterment of monoplanes. I used to get smoke and drive it against an object, and watch how it behaved. I have leanned I have now designed a machine which will fly efficiently and practically silent ly." The monoplane had been built at Hen-don. In shape it is totally unlike every machine at the aerodrome, and, if it fulfils the an a thousand acres remaining undisposed of the the government compiled its last statistos.

Publicity Law in Court.

Hitchcock and Wickersham and Board Members to Attend Po-Local Federal Officials the Defendants.

A suit in equity was begun in the Fedcame editor and publisher of "The Chi-cago Times-Herald" in 1895. The latter by Morris & Plante, of No. 135 Broadway. as counsel for the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin Company, a corporation which publishes the daily newsparer known as "The Journal of Commerce," and also publishes "The Review." a weekly, against Frank Hitchcock, Post-Mr. Hinman has been editor and owner master General; George W. Wickersham, Attorney General; Edward M. Morgan Charles T. Yerkes bought the paper, in Postmaster, and Henry A. Wise, District 1897, he engaged Mr. Hinman, who had Attorney, for the purpose of testing the constitutionality of the postal appropria-tion law of August 24, which requires general manager. Four years later Mr editors, publishers and business managers Hinman purchased all except a few shares or owners of every newspaper, magazine of the stock, and has since controlled the periodical or other publication to file with the postal authorities statements not later than October 1, regarding circula-tion and the like, under penalty of beng excluded from the mails.

The Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin Company states in the complaint that it has more than $1,000,000 invested in its daily and weekly publications, which have wide and favorable reputations as advertising mediums, with subscribers in all parts of the country. class mail matter.

It adds that the denial of the use of the mails for the circulating of the two publications would result in the loss of its subscription list and the loss in the annual sales of many thousands of copies of the newspaper and much advertising patronage.

The complaint further asserts that in addition to the newspapers owned and pubblished by the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin Company, upwards of 25,000 newspapers, magazines and periodicals are published in and throughout the United States, each of which is doing a large and thriving business, and together the owners thereof have made investments in this country of cash aggregating many millions of dollars, and each and all of them are equally affected by the legislative enactment which it is claimed violates the First and Fifth amendments to the Constitution, and being therefore unconstitutional, is void and can have no force or effect.

The complaint further states that the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin Company has never disclosed the circulation of its publications to the pub-lic or to officials of the government (exentry of the daily newspaper and insurance weekly as second class matter), and that neither the United States nor the Post Office Department nor the public at large have any interest in knowing the circulation of those publications or the average number of paid subscribers, nor s said information or a statement thereof material or necessary to aid or assist in the operation of the Post Office Department, or in the carrying of the malls: nor has anything to do with or bears any the carrying of mail matter of second class.

The complaint states that as it is the will be subjected to a multiplicity of sits and prosecutions and the property will be taken and dissipated by fines, and it will suffer irreparable injury.

It is also asserted that it is necessary for the proper enjoyment of its property ment, and paid a tribute to every man of and the carrying on of its business that the complainant be permitted to continue no adequate remedy at law a suit in equity has been undertaken to test the postal publicity law, it being added that in the absence of relief through equity the penalties would be unreasonable and confiscatory, and would deprive the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin Company of its liberty and property without due process of law, and would address, John J. Connor, of the United likewise deny to it equal protection of laws and would abridge the freedom of the press in contravention of the First and Fifth amendments to the Constitu

The Federal District Court is therefore asked to protect the company against the threatened invasion by the defendants of its inherent rights, and as relief to adudge and decree that the law complained of is illegal and void because be youd the power of Congress to enact, and ecause it is in violation of the Constitu-

The court is further asked to issue as order restraining the defendants and all persons acting through or under them, from in any way enforcing or attempting to enforce the law complained of until it can determine on motion and hearing whether a temporary injunction with like effect shall not be granted pendente lite.

Important! The coming election. You will want to vote. To vote you must register. Your first chance is tomorrow. There will be three more days, but do it to-morrow. Any time between 7 a. m. and 10 p. m.

WHAT IS GOING ON TO-DAY.

Free admission to the American Museum of Natural History and the Metropolitan Mu-seum of Art. Electrical Show, New Grand Central Palace. Arrival of reserve fleet and the auxiliaries.

Address by Timothy L. Woodruff before stu dents of Adelphi College, college, 11 a. m.
Dinner of the Ragged Edge Club, Café Boulevard, 7 p. m.

Dinner of the Ragged Edge Club, Café Boulevard, 7 p. m.

Meeting of the Woman's Peace Circle, Waldorf-Astoria, 8 p. m.

Meeting of the Westchester County Chambers of Commerce, Hotel Manhattan, 8 p. m.

Meeting of the Westchester County Chambers of Commerce, Hotel Manhattan, 8 p. m.

Public lectures of the Board of Education, 8:15 p. m.: Public School 33, No. 418 West 28th p. m.: Public School 35, No. 418 West 28th Street, "The Frevention of Tuberculosia," Dr. Thomas Darlington; Public School 46, 186th street and St. Nicholas avenue, "Venice," Glen Arnold Grove; Public School 59, No. 228 East 57th street, "The Coast of Maine," Alfred H. Lewis; Public School 62, Hester and Essex streets, "The Cldest Stories of the World," Dr. Charles F. Horne; Public School 109, 138th street, west of Fifth avenue, "The Wonders of the Shenandosh Valley," Dr. George Donaldson; Public School 119, 153d street and Eighth avenue, "Period of American Discovery," Dr. Anna P. MaoVay; Public School 165, 108th street and Amsterdam avenue, "Die Walküre," Mrs. Mary Hill Brown; Institution for Deaf, Fort Washington avenue and 103d street, "Sculpture of New York," John 103d street, "Sculpture of New York," John Quincy Adams; Labor Temple, 14th street and Second avenue, "A Day in the Children's Court," Ernest K. Coulter; Public Library, No. 112 East 96th street, "Alundred Dolliar Trip Through the British Isles," Reuben L. Breed; Institute Hall, No. 218 East 106th street, "Life and Industries of the Hapanese," James Walter Doughty; St. Lidies Hall, No. 483 Hudson street, "Polt Lidies and Art Song," Miss Marie F. Mao-Connell.

PAPER BEGINS TEST SUIT MAXWELL DEFENDS SELF

Journal of Commerce Attacks Superintendent Upholds His Age-Rating Policy.

WANTS IT DECLARED VOID TO TRY SCHOOL RALLIES

litical Meetings and Report on What Happens.

In a communication to the Board of Education yesterday Dr. William H. Maxwell, Superintendent of City Schools, warned the public and the press to pay little attention to statements derogatory to the public schools that masqueraded as parts of Professor Hanus's report or as supplementary thereto.

The superintendent's communication was in answer to a report recently brought out by Dr. Frank P. Bachman, of the Hanus school inquiry committee. Dr. Maxwell's letter to the board stated that an inquiry addressed to Professor Hanus had elicited this reply:

I have not seen this report of Bachman's before, nor have I had anything to do with it, consequently I have not authorized its publication in the newspapers. It is no part of the report which I am submitting to the committee on school inquiry.

This statement by Professor Hanus, the City Superintendent declares, is sufficient warning to beware of statements purport ing to be part of the Hanus report. He refers to Dr. Bachman in quotation marks as "educational expert" to the committee on school inquiry.

Continuing, Dr. Maxwell says:

Continuing, Dr. Maxwell says:

Inasmuch, however, as Dr. Bachman has assailed, indirectly, my honesty of purpose in treating the subject of "overage." I feel constrained to notice some of his statements.

The criterion of efficiency which Dr. Bachman sets up might be applicable—though even that is doubtful—to a homogeneous English speaking community in which children are sent to school at the earliest legal age. It distinctly does not apply to New York, where the foreign born, or the children of the foreign born, constitute 40 per cent of the population, and where the majority of the foreign children are not familiar with our language when they enter school.

By a single illustration. Dr. Maxwell

By a single illustration, Dr. Maxwell said, he would expose the fallacy of the Bachman argument. He pointed out that the author of "The Promised Land" said she was thirteen years old when she came to this country from Russia. In a little more than four years she passed through the nine-year course in the Bos ton elementary schools, Must Consider Conditions.

"Yet on any basis of normal age yet proposed," says Dr. Maxwell, "she would have been rated as over age throughout the entire course. On Dr. Bachman's hypothesis her presence in a Boston school would have been adduced as evidence of inefficiency. So much for the everlasting fallacy of considering figures without considering the conditions under which they arise.

"Unless very much better reasons than any advanced by Dr. Bachman are laid before me I shall adhere to the standards of normal age which I adopted in 1904, and which have been followed by the majority of superintendents in other cities." When the reading of the communication was finished members of the board clustered about Dr. Maxwell, and a resolution was adopted to print it and give it widespread circulation. The board also adopted a resolution offered by Thomas W. Churchill, to appoint a committee of three to investigate allegations of dishonesty and of excessive absence contained in reports submitted to the superintendent by assistants. At the last meeting of the board the re ports of associate superintendents and thers reviewing the work of the last school year were referred to Mr. Churchill. In some reports, which Mr. Churchill said it was imperative to investigate, were drastic allegations of low ethical standard in the teaching force, and there were other features of interest in a report submitted on "The Operation of the Retirement Law."

"This board should not permit to pass unquestioned these serious reproaches Mr. Churchill.

It was alleged in one report referred to that the greatest confusion imaginable prevailed in the organization of departmental teaching, and that too often the man was Paul Henry Laroussini, a supervisory work was such as could be performed by the clerk or janitor. Before the board voted favorably on a political gatherings of all parties in seven city schools there was much lively dis-Commissioner Patrick H. McGowan said he was absolutely opposed to injecting politics into the schools.

Ananias Candidate.

"It would have no educational value," said Mr. McGowan. At this point Abraham Stern convulsed the board with a reply to Mr. McGowan. "If Theodore Roosevelt were to speak in a school," said Mr. Stern in a solemn manner, "and were to hear that you had said such a meeting would have no educational value, you would receive a communication next day, saying: 'Mr. Mc-Gowan, you are a liar."

Mr. Metz stoutly maintained that the schoolhouse was a far better place to hear political speeches than the back rooms of Mr. McGowan still had objections to "The seats in the schoolrooms are made to fit children, not men," sald Mr. Mc-

This sally brought half a dozen mem bers to their feet, all wanting to show Mr. McGowan that the same seats were an excellent fit for the adult audiences that attended free lectures. It was determined, in passing the resolution, to have a member of the board at each rally to see how things went and to have reports made later, if necessary. Some of the women members volunteered. A proposition to charge a fee for a mission to evening schools was solidly voted down.

TAFT WOMEN WILL MOVE

Will Have Headquarters in the Waldorf After October 16. The advisory board to the woman's de partment of the Republican National Committee is about to move. After October 16 it will have rooms on the sixteenth floor of the Waldorf-Astoria. This and several other things were cided upon at a meeting yesterday at the Republican headquarters in the Times

Building. Mrs. Nelson Herrick Henry, the chairman, presided. Mrs. Charles F, Joy, of Missouri; Mrs. Lars Anderson, of Massachusetts; Mrs. Henry Seligman, of New Jersey, and other members from afar attended, along with those from New York. All reported the rapid organization of erick S. Strong, jr., son of Colonel and Republican women in the various states. Mrs. Frederick S. Strong, of Fort Mon-

STUPEFIED.

WEDDINGS. STEINBACH-WHELAN.

The wedding of Miss Eileen Regina Whelan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Whelan, and Gustave Erwin Steinbach took place yesterday morning in the Lady Chapel of St. Patrick's Cathedral. Mr. Steinbach is the son of the late Erwin Steinbach, of Brooklyn, a Papal marquis, and until his death a few years ago one of the prominent men in Catholic affairs.

The Rev. James J. Coan, of Brooklyn, performed the ceremony at 11:30 o'clock, and a breakfast followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Whelan, No. 126 East 84th

Mrs. Charles Boedecker (Marle Josephine Steinbach), who now makes her home in Berlin, was the bride's only attendant Paul Koechl, of Brooklyn, acted as best man, and serving as ushers were Otto Koechl, Dr. Charles Boedecker, Louis Klingenberg and William Steinbach. When Mr. and Mrs. Steinbach return from their wedding trip they will make their home at No. 7 East 41st street.

LAROUSSINI-MACKENZIE.

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 9 .- Miss Florence Jessie Mackenzie, daughter of Francis Alexander Mackenzie, and George Andre Laroussini, of New Orleans, were married here this evening in the Church of the from an official of high position," said Immaculate Conception. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. J. Pohl and the Rev. John A. Dillon, The maid of honor was Miss Elise Henriette Mackenzie, a sister of the bride, and the best brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were Edward Francis and Gordon Alexander Mackenzie, brothers of the bride, proposition of Herman A. Metz to permit and Emil and Henry Erhard, of Boston, her cousins. The organist was Baumar Lowe, of St. Bartholomew's Church, Brooklyn.

OWEN-HYDE.

South Orange, N. J., Oct. 9 .- Married to-night at 7 o'clock in his own church, St. George's Episcopal, in the Maplewood section, to Miss Virginia Hyde, of Roosevelt Park, the Rev. Elmer Nelson Owen had Bishop Edwin S. Lines, of the New diocese, to perform the ceremony. The witnesses included relatives and close friends of the bride, relatives of the bridegroom and the vestry and officers of the

The father of the bride, John A. Hyde, gave her in marriage and she was attended by Miss Grace L. Weinert, of New York, as bridesmaid. The bride's brother, Charles F. Hyde, was best man. The ushers were Hugh M. Jones, of Maple wood, and Edward Jones.

MORGAN-BARRADALE. Orange, N. J., Oct. 9.-Miss Marian Pat

en Barradale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dunbar Barradale, of this city. and Henry Southmayd Morgan, of East Orange, were married to-night in the Hillside Presbyterian Church here. The maid of honor was Miss Marguerite Jacobs, of Orange, and the matron of honor was Mrs. C. Dean Hammond. Miss Elsie Morgan and Miss Virginia Cogan were bridesmalds. The ushers were E. Morgan and Chauncey D. Barradale brothers of the bridegroom and bride; Leslie King and Charles B. Yardley, jr., of East Orange. M'BRIDE-PERSONS.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.-Miss Susan B. Perons, daughter of Medical Director Remus Charles Persons, U. S. N., was married in Holy Trinity Church this afternoon to Naval Constructor Louis Bowen McBride, U. S. N. The bride's sisters, Mrs. Sidney Morgan Henry, of New York, and Mrs. Sidney Le Breton, were matrons of honor. Naval Constructor Sidney Morgan Henry, U. S. N., was best man. The ushers included: Lieutenant David MacD. Le Breton, naval constructor; W. B. Ferguson, John A. Stillman, James L. Ather son, Emory S. Land, and Paul Wiltstock and William S. Detwiler. STRONG-WARD.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 9 .- Lieutenant Fred-day to Miss Marjorie Lee Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis C. Ward, of Orchard Lake. The wedding was a mili-tary affair, several officers of the regular army taking part in the ceremonies.

Wha-a-t!

The bride wore a string of pearls, the of honor. A large number of out-of-town guests attended, among them Mr. and Sixteen of the new care. Mrs. George M. Root, of New York City; paintshop and thirty-three are building. The Mrs. James W. Riley, of West Point; first consignment after the sample car will Mr. and Mrs. Louis H. Pelouze, of New come on August 25. York City: Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Fay and Dudley, Harold and Willis Fay, of Auburn, and Mr. and Mrs. William G.

Cook, of Troy. Lieutenant and Mrs. Strong will live in Washington. CARRY-SMITH.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Greenwich, Conn., Oct. 9.—The wedding Abbott, Grace Van D. Leach, Neilie P. of Miss Katherine Smith, eldest daughter Barry, Robert P. Law, Lizzle R. of Mr. and Mrs. Williams Smith, and Day, Daniel W. Thomas Carry, for thirty years manager Detts of Park & Tilford's Fifth avenue store in Kiotz, Silas M.

New York City, and now a leading mer-Krueger, Minnie. chant here, took place at St. Mary's Church this morning, in the presence of a thousand guests. The bride's sister, Mrs. Arthur Woodcock, was matron of honor, and the best man was Edward Fischer, of New York. A large reception followed at the bungalow of the bride's parents, opposite the Conyers Manor Estate, at which her father gave the bride a wel come surprise in the shape of $25,000 worth of railroad and bank bonds. He had already given her a beautiful home.

M'NAUGHTON-TIER.

Miss Susan Alma Tier, a social favorite of Mount Vernon, was married to Archibold Greig McNaughton last night at the home of the bride's parents in Gramatan avenue, Mount Vernon. The bridegroom s a son of James McNaughton and a nember of Whitbeck & Co., a big hardware firm of Schenectady, N. Y. The ceremony was held in the drawing room, which was transformed into a floral bower, with pink and yellow chrysanthemums, and was performed by the Rev. Harry Beattys, in the presence of about three hundred guests. The maid of honor was Miss Jeanne Tier, and the bridesmaids were Miss Laura McNaughton, Miss Chrystine McNaughton, Miss Delta Boyce and Miss Christina Van Wagner. The best man was William Henry Mo-Naughton. The ushers were Daniel Tier, Alexander McNaughton, Charles McLean and Joel Coffin. The father of the bride is rich and is one of the largest real estate developers in Mount Vernon.

NAMES OF GERMAN BEERS. From Vice-Consul General De Witt C. Pool,

jr., Berlin. The imperial Supreme Court at Leipsic has recently decided that it is lawful to use the names of places in the trade names of beers to designate the character, or type, as well as the place of manufacture. The ecision grew out of a suit brought by the Pilsener Brauereien against the Deutsche Bierbrauerel-Akten-Gezellschaft, of Radeberg. Saxony, to restrain the latter from selling a certain brand of beer under the lesignation "Radeberger Pilsener." Two lower courts decided that as the beer in question was not actually produced in Pilsen the Deutsche Bierbrauerei was not ustified in using such a designation. of these courts held, in agreement with a position recently assumed by the patent office in the matter of the registration of trade-marks, that a designation such as 'Radeberger Pilsener' is not permissible because a beer cannot have two places of origin. The Supreme Court held that for this very reason a beer that bears in so clear a manner the names of two places cannot be understood to have originated in both of them, and one of the names must therefore be understood to represent some-thing else than the focality in which the beer was manufactured.

IN GOTHAM'S FOOTSTEPS. From The Cleveland Leader.

A no-step streetcar was ordered built for the Cleveland Railway Company yesterday, and if it works all right all new motor equipped care will be of that pattern."

'The car has a door on the side, as the new trailers have, but there is no step. ottom of the car bulges down in the middle and passengers may walk down an plane to get out. The Brill Company is build-Pontiac, Mich., or., son of Colonel and ing it at the Kuhlman car shops, Collinwood, erick S. Strong, ir., son of Colonel and ing it at the Kuhlman car shops, Collinwood.

roe, Va., was married here at noon to- trailers, the first sample of which is due next week. The sidedoors open and shut, when the conductor presses a button, by an electro-pneumatic device. The air brakes are automatic The new trains will be equipped with an automatic signal to the motorman. A light will flash in his cab when all doors of both cars The bride wore a string of pearls, the gift of her aunt, Mrs. F. H. Fay, of log only about four hundred and ninety pounds for each seat. The lengthwise seats will give

Sixteen of the new cars are now in

OBVIOUSLY NOT.

From The Charleston News and Courier "Canned goods quiet," says the market report. The reference is not to phonographic

Seaman, Ellen Squires, Amy

ABBOTT—On Tuesday, October 8, Grace Van Dusen, wife of Lewis L. Abbott, in the fist year of her age. Funeral services at her late residence, No. 153 West 75d st., New York City, Friday, October 11, at 11 a. m.

BARRY-Major Robert Peabody Barry, late of U. S. A., at his residence, Clifton Farm, Warrenton, Fauquier County, Virginia, on Wednesday, October 9, 1912, in the 74th year of his age.

CORCORAN—Joseph R., aged 40, Services
"The Funeral Church," 241 West 23d st., (Frank Campbell Building). Remains lying in Memorial Chapel, above address.

DAY—On Tuesday, October 8, 1912, Daniel Wood Day, in his 92d year. Funeral services on Thursday, October 10, at 2:15 p. m., at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. William W. McCollum, on Old Short Hills Road, Mill-burn N.

DETTS—On Wednesday, October 9, 1912, John Sanford Detts, youngest son of the late James and Amelia G. Detts, of Stamford, Conn. Funeral on Friday, private. St. Louis papers please copy.

DRAKE-SMITH—Suddenly, on October 8, 1913 Barstow Drake-Smith, beloved husband of Clara Lagrave and eldest son of the late Daniel and Henrietta M. Drake-Smith. Funeral private.

KLOTZ—Suddenly, on October 7, 1912, Silas M. Klotz, in his 49th year. Funeral services will be held Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, at his late residence, No. 907 Lincoln Place, Brooklyn.

KRUEGER—On October 7, 1912, Minnie Krueger (née Minnie Leu), beloved wife of George Krueger. Funeral services will be held Thursday night, at 8 o'clock, at her late home, No. 4811 Fort Hamilton Parkway, Brooklyne AW—On October 7, 1912, at her residence, No. 538 55th st., Brooklyn, Lizzle R. Law (née Bradshaw), wife of the late William B. Law. Funeral Thursday at 9:30 a. m.

LEACH—At Dreamwylde, Haines Falls, N. T., Mrs. Nellie P. Leach, daughter of Andrew L. and Sarah E. Panchen and mother of A. A. Leach, Jr. Funeral at Dreamwylde, 2 p. m.. October 10, 1912. Interment Saturday at Long Ridge, Conn.

LOEB-The Board of Directors of the Hebrew Technical Institute invite the Members and the Alumni to attend the funcal of our re-vered President, Dr. Morris Loeb, on Osto-ber 10, at 1:30 o'clock, at Salem Fields Cemetery. ABRAHAM STEINAM, Vice-President. EUGENE E. SPIEGELBERG

Secretary. MILLER—At Hastings-on-the-Hudson, October 9, 1912. Betsy Ann Breese, widow of Charles W. Miller. Funeral services from her late residence, No. 34 Main st., on Friday evening, October 11, at 7:45 p. m. Interment at convenience of the family.

M'WILLIAMS—At her residence, No. 16 Ham-sition st., East Orange, N. J., on Tuesday, October 8, 1912, Kate E MoWilliams. Fu-neral and interment private.

SEAMAN—Tuesday, October 8, Ellen Robertson, wife of the late James J. Seaman, aged 77. Funeral services at St. Andrew's Church, 127th st. and Fifth ave., Thursday, 10th inst., at 12 m. Interment at Kensico. Chicago and Los Angeles papers please copy. SQUIRES—At South Orange, N. J., October 9, 1912, Amy Z., widow of Walter Squires, Funeral services will be held at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. William Hollister, No. 375 Hillside Flace, Friday, October 11, at 4 o'clock. Interment at Medfield, Mass., Saturday morning, at 11 o'clock. Boston papers please copy.

CEMETERIES

THE WOODLAWN CEMETERY, 233d St. By Harlem Train and by Trolley, Office, 20 East 23d St., N. Y.

PRANK E. CAMPBELL, 241-8 West 236 Chapels, Private Hoon ces. Tel. 1324 Chelses.

MAIN OFFICE—No. 154 Nassau street.
UPTOWN OFFICE—No. 1384 Broadway.
any American District Telegraph Office.
HARLEM OFFICES—No. 157 East 125
atrect, No. 263 West 125th street and N 219 West 125th street.